THE DILEMMA

DAVIS' client, a global renewable energy development organization, had recently merged and acquired numerous businesses across the East Coast. These transactions generated the need to integrate the acquired companies ERP systems and financial data into one unified resource platform while still maintaining day to day accounting operations. Our client did not have the resources to manage the ERP integrations and with future acquisitions on the horizon, they needed to act quickly.

THE SOLUTION

Our client needed a talent provider who could not only provide the best accounting professionals available, but one who could scale its operations up at a moment's notice. With no time to waste, DAVIS met face-to-face with the energy management team to fully immerse ourselves in the company's culture and obtain an in-depth understanding of their immediate and long-term projects and goals. With this gained insight, our Accounting & Finance recruitment team sourced, screened, hired, and on-boarded 20 trained accounting experts. This team executed multiple ERP integrations, handled the site accounting and led the firm through 8 complex audits without any interruption to everyday business. Did we mention this team was constructed in 3 days!

THE IMPACT

A Stable Flexible Workforce: DAVIS prides itself on being Talent Advisors in every sense of the word. Using our consultative approach we implemented a strategic solution that allowed our client to manage their workload and control workflow with confidence. The accounting specialists that DAVIS provided streamlined operations which allowed for easier forecasting, planning, sales, and delivery.
